Harding Dismisses Director and 27 Divisional Chiefs Late Friday

SEEK MISSING FARMER

St. Paris, April 1.—There is considerable excitement in the west end of Champaign county over the sudden and unexplained disappearance of Clarence E. Pence, farmer living near St. Paris, who has not been seen by his acquaintances for a week. Last Wednesday Pence told his wife that he would be away from home a short time and that he was going to St. Paris. Although his home is only two miles south of the village Pence failed to return that night and he has not been seen or heard of since.

Investigation on the part of his family and friends has failed to reveal any trace of him.

MAMMOTH T A S K

Consternation Among U. S. Government Employees Is Created.

Washington, April 1.—The most sweeping and drastic executive order of its kind ever issued by the White House today caused the complete reorganization of the big government bureau of engraving and printing, the summary dismissal of its director, James L. Wilmeth, and 27 divisional chiefs.

The bureau contains the printing presses and the dies from which all the government's currency, postage stamps and bonds are produced. Billions of dollars in currency, bonds and stamps are stored in the bureau.

President Harding's executive order which came out of a clear sky last night, merely states that the changes were ordered "for the good of the service."

It created consternation among the thousands of government employees who have been uneasy since the change of administration.

The new chief of the bureau, Louis Hill, and the new divisional chiefs today began an inventory of the property preparatory to taking it over.

Some idea of the magnitude of the task may be gained from the fact that there are $2,500,000,000 in federal reserve notes alone that will have to be counted, and these are but a small portion of the stock of the big concern. Treasury officials estimated that upwards of 100,000 packages of currency will have to be torn open and counted.

The causes underlying the almost unprecedented order from the White House are mainly political, it was learned today. Treasury officials denied that there were any "irregularities" or scandals back of the summary dismissal of twenty-eight bureau chiefs, some of whom had been in the government service for years.

Wilmeth, the retiring director, was an Arkansas Democrat, elevated to his post by William G. McAdoo in 1917, while Hill who succeeds him is a Pennsylvania Republican. The majority of those dismissed were Democrats it was stated today, who were placed in their present positions during the Wilson administration. Republican senators and congressmen who have sought places in the government service for constituents have frequently complained during the last year, that the new administration was not "replacing Democrats fast enough."

Their ire has been directed particularly against the treasury department which has been characterized as a "hot bed" of Democrats and a "McAdoo machine."

A few weeks ago, Elmer Dover, identified with the Republican party, was named as assistant secretary of the treasury at the instance of Republican senators who declared that Dover was going into the treasury "to clean house and break the McAdoo machine up."

BLANCHESTER MAN MAY RUN FOR U. S. CONGRESS

Wilmington, April 1.—Estel Carnahan, young farmer of near Blanchester, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Seventh District if Dr. Fess decides to become a candidate for the Senate, he announced to Wilmington friends recently.

Mr. Carnahan has not had much political experience but says he would like to go to Congress and that he will become a candidate. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Carnahan and a grandson of James Irvin.

ENGINEER MAKES PLANS FOR NEW COUNTY DITCH

Wilmington, April 1.—County Engineer Howard Collett, is now engaged in making plans and specifications for county ditch starting near the Port William pike and draining the lands just north of Wilmington. The present ditch is entirely stopped up and the fields resemble miniature lakes while the cellars of the houses are filled with water.

The ditch will only be about 1,500 feet long and the peculiar feature of it is that a large portion of the ditch will be within the corporate limits of Wilmington.

Mr. Collett says that it is the first time he has ever planned a county ditch running inside a corporation.

STORM SWEEPS MICHIGAN WITH GREAT DAMAGE

HIGH WATER IN MIDDLE WEST FOLLOWS HEAVY RAINS.

Detroit, April 1.—Lower Michigan today was under a blanket of snow and ice, communication lines were crippled, many highways were impassable with telephone poles and wires blocking traffic, and interurban railway service was greatly hampered by ice-covered rails and interruption of power transmission lines.

The glaze covered the south half of the lower peninsula while in the north, which was all but cut off from wire communication, a heavy snow fall was reported.

Officials of the Michigan State Telephone Company said damage to its equipment would amount to $1,500,000.

In Detroit damage estimated at approximately $500,000 was caused by the overflowing of Connor's Creek in the East End and Chovin Creek, a tributary of the river Rouge in the West End. For a distance of 10 squares cellars were reported flooded and the basements of many automobile body and automobile parts factories were under water.

Across the river, at Windsor and other border cities, several thousand persons were reported idle, today as the result of breaks in the Ontario hydro-electric system.

Cincinnati, April 1.—Owing to continued rains through the valley, the Licking River late yesterday had risen five feet at Falmouth, Ky., and was continuing to advance. Warnings were sent to the owners of barges and boats moored at Covington and Newport.

The Ohio River at Cincinnati registered 30.8 feet and rising at the rate of two-tenths of a foot an hour.

Springfield, Ill., April 1.—Responding to an appeal for relief from the flood, Governor Small directed Adjutant General Black to send 50 tents to Valley City, in Pike County, where the rising Illinois River is driving people from their homes.

Indianapolis, April 1.—River bottoms in Indiana were flooded by the high water caused by the recent heavy rains in the Ohio Valley, and many rivers were reported out of their banks.

Roanoke, in Allen County, was isolated, all roads leading to the town being reported blocked by the high water.

Memphis, Tenn., April 1.—The Mississippi River, swollen by heavy rains of several weeks, last night neared the crisis of its fight to break out of its man-made course.

Four and five miles wide at many points, the great muddy stream was straining at its levees from Cairo, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss. Hundreds of workers watched every foot of the great embankments thrown up.

BEAUTY HAS BIG PLACE IN WORLD PUT IT IN ADS

Beauty DOES have an important place in advertising. This is illustrated forcibly by the Arkin Advertisers Service, Chicago when they stated.

"It is a fundamental part of the human make-up to appreciate beauty. Everyone strives to accomplish it in some form or another, everyone respects it, everyone feels it. It is that FORCE to which we are all attracted, to the strength of which all yield. Beauty then, is the first outward quality of an advertisement to be considered."

And insofar as the local advertiser is concerned suitable illustrations and white space, will go far toward bringing about beauty in your advertisements. White space especially can be employed most advantageously and not infrequently causes a pronounced improvement in appearance and result bringing power.

Tempestuous Career of Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary At End

Death Claims Ex-Monarch Who Unsuccessfully Attempted to Regain Crown Lost Through Debacle of Central Powers—End Comes Saturday After Illness of Several Weeks.

London, April 1.—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary died today, at Funchal, Madeira, after an illness of several weeks, according to a Reuter dispatch received here.

The Reuter dispatch did not give the time of the former monarch's death, or any of the details.

Death came after a night which gave a false hope of life. The inflammation in the lungs had subsided. Physicians at his bedside stated at dawn that his chances were better than they had been at any time since his illness became critical.

Then came a relapse—and the end.

The dethroned ruler was a prey to the ill-fate that for centuries has hovered inexorably over the house of Hapsburg. Although no longer wielding a scepter over the now dismembered empire yet he died still the legal king of Hungary.

The wave of democracy that swept over the central empires after the war had taken his emperor's crown from his head, but to the end he stoutly refused to abdicate the throne as king of Hungary.

Charles gained the ancient crown of the Holy St. Stephen after the death of the aged Francis Joseph, which occurred during the world war. The right-hand arch duke Francis Ferdinand was the princeling killed at Sarajevo, whose assassination was the tinder spark that started the world war.

After the debacle of the central powers, Charles his empress Zita and their two children escaped to Switzerland. But Charles had not learned the lesson of democracy that the war brought the world. His hand still longed for the scepter. He made a dash into Hungary and while at the head of his monarchist troops sought the throne of his fathers. That coup d'etat was a dismal failure and he went back to Switzerland.

The imperious Zita—so the story goes—was not content to live in exile. She urged her discouraged husband to make one more try for the crown.

Charles became enthusiastic again.

Secret preparations were made. Then one morning the world was informed that he and Zita had left for Hungary in an airplane. This attempt also was a failure. Then all Europe began to laugh at the foiled monarch who could not swallow the medicine of democracy.

The one time emperor was locked up again.

Kansas miners joining in strike despite of Kansas industrial court.

Illinois coal workers loyalty supporting international until after long dithering over "separate peace" with the operators.

Operations at a standstill in approximately 6,000 of America's 7,500 coal mines.

Two hundred thousand non union miners counted on for reinforcement of the union cause.

Railroaders—several hundred thousand of them, members of the sixteen major railroad unions—promising "moral" support for the miners.

Speeches are being delivered today by President Hall and Secretary George W. Savage, Ohio United Mine Workers, at New Philadelphia and Urichsville; by State Director of Industrial Relations Percy Tetlow and T. J. Donnelly, Cincinnati, secretary and treasurer, Ohio Federation of Labor, at Belpre, and by W. Roy, Bellaire, Vice president, Ohio United Mine Workers, at Bradley, Jefferson county.

Regarding the union's strike machine as "perfect", John L. Lewis, international president of the miners union, observed the progress of the tremendous strike from the vantage point of union headquarters here.

Apparently unworried and fully satisfied with the operations of the well-oiled union machine, Mr. Lewis, termed the walkout "100 per cent effective."

The union chief let it be known that he considers there is little to be done by the miners in the initial stages of the strike.

The miners voted 95 per cent in referendum to walk out April 1, if the operators failed to abide by the pledge to meet their employees in conference.

In the face of continued refusal by the operators—international officers sent out the strike order, backed by the vote of the rank and file.

The result was automatic. The men understood their orders and they obeyed them almost to a man, it was apparent on the face of reports from mining centers. Little generalship was required in the early hours of the walk out.

Lewis is to depart this evening for Washington, where Monday he intends to tell the house labor committee that the strike situation is fraught with far reaching consequences and he will tell the congressmen that the coal operators are wholly to blame.

From Washington, Mr. Lewis plans to go to New York to see what can be done to bring an agreement out of the anthracite miners' operators conference. Thus far the New York parleys have offered little hope of a settlement of the wage difficulties of the hard coal miners.

HERE AND THERE IN STRIKE AREAS

Athens, O., April 1.—More than ten thousand miners in the Hocking coal field are idle today as the result of the general suspension. Not a wheel is turning in the southern Ohio mines and none of the men are working save the pumpers who will stick at their posts during the shutdown until old timers here declare will be long. Mines in the southern Ohio fields began to close a week ago and livestock was brought to the surface to load out and fires banked. The walkout is complete save in a few mines where coal for the Central Electric Power station that pumps the mines is produced.

Hocking miners enter the long period of idleness in bad condition financially. The average number of days worked in Athens county in the past year has been less than 90 and in Hocking and Perry counties even less. For weeks local relief organizations have been feeding the women and children in the homes of the miners, as several thousand have long been in dire need of the most common necessities of life.

Bridgeton, O., April 1.—The lockout of 18,000 miners in the eastern Ohio field this morning was complete. None of the companies operating in the district even attempted to run its mines.

Even though an effort was made to start the mines no miner in this field would go to work today. The operators refused to meet with union officials to draft a scale and then, too, it is the anniversary of the establishment of the eight hour day. No union miners work on that day, it having been recognized as a holiday since the scale making it a reality became effective April 1, 1898. There is no general celebration of the day although individual locals are to celebrate with mass meetings this afternoon.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 31.—Early reports received here today at headquarters of district five, United Mine Workers, indicated that coal production in the great bituminous counties of western Pennsylvania was practically at a standstill. No attempt was made to operate union mines and only a few scattered small workings, which are non union, were operating. Their gross output is not large. Forty-five thousand union miners and about 15,000 non union men are out. There has been no disorder or indications of ill feeling. Both sides are inclined to believe that the one with the longest purse will eventually win.

Huntington, W. Va., April 1.—Non-union coal miners stuck to their jobs in Logan, the Norfolk and Western and the eastern Kentucky coal fields today.

Twenty thousand miners in these fields reported for work this morning according to railroad officials who checked up the three fields.

A continual line of coal trains was rolling out of the Big Sandy valley in Kentucky, the Guyan valley and from the Norfolk and Western district.

OLES GOES TO COUNTRY

Youngstown, April 1.—Mayor George L. Oles, who moved to a hotel here from his country home to establish a legal residence during his campaign, chose Friday, his "lucky day" to move back and today is shifting the home fire once more. His announcement said: "Oles, his bull dogs, phonograph, and sewing machine are going to move to the farm today. Probably his wife and children will accompany him.

Oles will continue to maintain a legal residence at the hotel.

To avoid misunderstanding the mayor added: "If anyone believes Oles is not mayor all they have to do is to start something."

MINES IN OHIO DESERTED WHEN TIE-UP BEGINS

Forty Two Thousand Workers in State Are Idle Saturday

Columbus, April 1.—Today, the first day of the nation wide coal strike, heralded as the greatest struggle in the history of organized labor in the United States, finds approximately 42,000 union miners and 750 mines idle in Ohio.

Reports reaching here early today from the various coal fields of the state indicated that the strikers are peaceful.

Union miners officials voiced the expectation that although indications point to a protracted strike, there will be no violence on the part of Ohio miners. Operators, also, said they do not expect violence.

Lee Hall, Columbus, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers, and other officials of the organization are scattered over the Ohio coal fields making addresses to gatherings of union miners who are celebrating the 23rd anniversary of the inauguration of the eight hour day in the mines.

Should the unexpected happen and violence break out, it is expected by some that it will originate in connection with an effort to prevent shipment into Ohio of trains carrying coal from West Virginia and Kentucky non union coal mines if all the unorganized miners fail to join the strike.

In view of the fact that practically all industrial establishments have laid in fuel supplies and retail dealers have coal on hand sufficient it is estimated to care for the domestic trade during the warm weather season, it is not expected that there will be any suffering from lack of fuel.

Acting under instructions from union officials, about 2,500 Ohio miners are remaining at work so as to prevent mines from being flooded or damaged in any other way.

The miners, fighting against wage slashes and to compel operators to meet them in joint wage conference, were all set today for a show down on the question of who's in the coal industry. The operators, bent on an announced program of wage retrenchment, continue in their refusal to meet the miners.

Meanwhile, the government is maintaining a hands off policy—standing aside to let the operators and miners battle it out so long as the public is not suffering from the effects of the conflict.

The situation in today's gigantic walkout the sixth great strike of miners in the history of American industry briefly is as follows:

used to decorate the border and the tiny flowerpots, which are made of shiny black straw embroidery, hold green plants.

Blue crepe de chine, embroidered with dull orange and blue straw, the crown of the hat, made of the straw intertwining both colors, with blue crepe de chine draped turban-wise about the head, contributed another attractive set. While still more unusual—almost poster-esque in effect—was a soft tam made of black and white straw, accompanied by a white marocain scarf with a circular motif worked out in straw.

CLEVER PARTY GIVEN FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Ralph Watkins, (nee Men- denhall) was honored at a charming affair given by Miss Eva Smith, and Mrs. Roscoe McCorkell, at the home of Mrs. McCorkell, in Spring Valley, Friday evening, the affair being cleverly arranged as an "April Fool."

Upon arriving the guests were seated at tables, prettily appointed, with vases of pink rose buds and pink candles in crystal holders, pink and white streamers leading from the chandelier to the corners of the table.

BOYS BEING HELD AFTER CONFESSIONS OF TRIED HOLD UP

William Earl Terrell, 17, and Charles Coates, 16, are being held for further action of juvenile court and Duronda Lemons, 11 was placed on probation from juvenile court Saturday morning, after the three youths had confessed to an attempt to hold up William Osterly, 215 W. Second St., on S. Galloway St., Monday night.

The three boys were arrested by Assistant Chief of Police David Mangan Friday night and locked up at police headquarters over night pending a hearing before Juvenile Judge J. Carl Marshall. They had confessed to police and to Judge Marshall their part in the attempted hold up of Osterly, which resulted in the latter taking a rifle away from Terrell, who was wielding the gun.

According to the story told by the youths Terrell obtained his father's rifle, to stage the hold-up with, and while he was to keep the intended victim covered, Lemons and Coates were to search him. Terrell, who said he wanted money, and that the three were planning to go to Dayton on the loot, carried out his part in the escapade but his companions evidently got "cold feet", leaving Terrell also to do the searching. As he approached Osterly, the latter caught the gun and wrested it from his hands, the lad fleeing up the alley. Terrell told Judge Marshall Saturday morning that the rifle was loaded but said that he did not intend to shoot Osterly even if his intended victim had no money.

Terrell was paroled from the Feeble Minded Institute at Columbus, less than two months ago. He was working up until two weeks ago, and has since been out of a job. Coates, who was in the trio of would-be holdups, was paroled from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster last September.

The male quartette presented a musical program of the highest type, but adapted their song numbers to the young audience they had, singing numbers that were interesting to the children and drew from them vociferous applause. Only a few Elks took advantage of the offering to attend the concert, which was greatly enjoyed by the Home people.

AMERICANIZATION OF MUSIC.

A two-minute address delivered by Charles E. Watt, (who has a number of relatives in Xenia,) Editor of Music News, at the Westinghouse Radiophone Studios in Chicago on March 14 and broadcasted to a minimum audience of two hundred thousand people with a possibility that it may have been heard by six hundred thousand.

"We should have in America today a nationalized music development."

"In commerce and invention we have long since outstripped the world, but in music we still follow."

"It was natural, at first, that we should borrow ideals from Europe, but the necessity is long since passed, and we need now to use European music only for variety and comparison."

"We have talent, money and initiative aplenty, and we should use these in the development of our own music to the point where it shall lead all the nations."

"Since opera is so great a factor in the popularization of music, we should have opera as well as all song recitals in English."

"In France opera is sung in French, in Italy in Italian exclusively, and in Germany in German, and to this is due, largely, the fact of nationalized music in those countries."

"We should insist upon our own language in our opera houses and concert rooms. We should give the preference to our own composers and artists, and we should thus put Americanization into every music development in this country."

"In a word, our motto in music, as in everything else, should be AMERICA FIRST."

BUDGET VS. "PORK."

In its present stiff-necked, cantankerous and resentful mood Congress is brewing war medicine against the Budget Bureau. Fiery trials await the budget system, declared the product achievement of the Administration by none other than the President himself.

Congress is realizing that a very large percentage of its old-time power departed with the coming of the budget system. Where House committees on military and naval affairs, merchant marine, postoffices and pensions, and so on down and up the list, once had much to say, the Appropriations Committee and the Budget Bureau of Director Dawes have become all powerful.

The House went willingly along on budget recommendations for the army and the navy. It gave high approval to these reductions and is adding some of its own, for Congress always is ready to slash military expenditures, unless there is a war cloud reaching half way up the horizon. Congress chops right merrily and fearlessly on such bills, for the army has no vote and the navy has no vote. But when we come to the old "pork barrel," the rivers-and-harbors measures affecting these United States, that is another matter.

For how can Congressman make a showing unless he can get money to make Crooked Creek or Skillet Fork or Mudcat bayou navigable? He can't and he knows it, and it was the most natural thing in the world for the House to vote with the emphasis of 158 votes to 54 votes that the budget allotment of $27,635,260 for such purposes be ignored, that the Appropriations Committee's approval of that sum be set aside and that the amount be increased to $42,815,661.

Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming, majority floor leader and paladin of the budget, pleaded in vain. He was trampled in the rush and so, too, was Chairman Madden, of the Appropriations Committee, and other of the Administration folk who have been taking much modest if junctious pride in what the budget will do and has done.

The House does not like the workings of the budget and there have been mutterings for weeks among the old committees once powerful, but now dwarfed by the budget system. If the budget works the way it was supposed to work, it inevitably will make "rubber stamps" of many of these and rob members who once enjoyed great power as chairmen of these bodies of that power. The Appropriations Committee has become the Caesar, the Czar and the Kaiser of all House committees that have power over the taxpayer's dollar.

A revolt against this one-committee domination is bubbling in the House. The uprising on the rivers-and-harbors measure was the first skirmish, and the budget system lost. If the Administration does not keep an anxious eye on the new system, it may be hamstrung, drawn, crucified and quartered along the way. —Public Ledger.

STOP IMMIGRATION, SAYS MRS. MOORE.

America should take warning from history which teaches that higher civilizations of past ages have been wrecked by alien infiltration and declare a five-year immigration holiday against the foreign invasion that threatens her, Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore, of Pittsburgh, asserted in a report submitted to Secretary Davis.

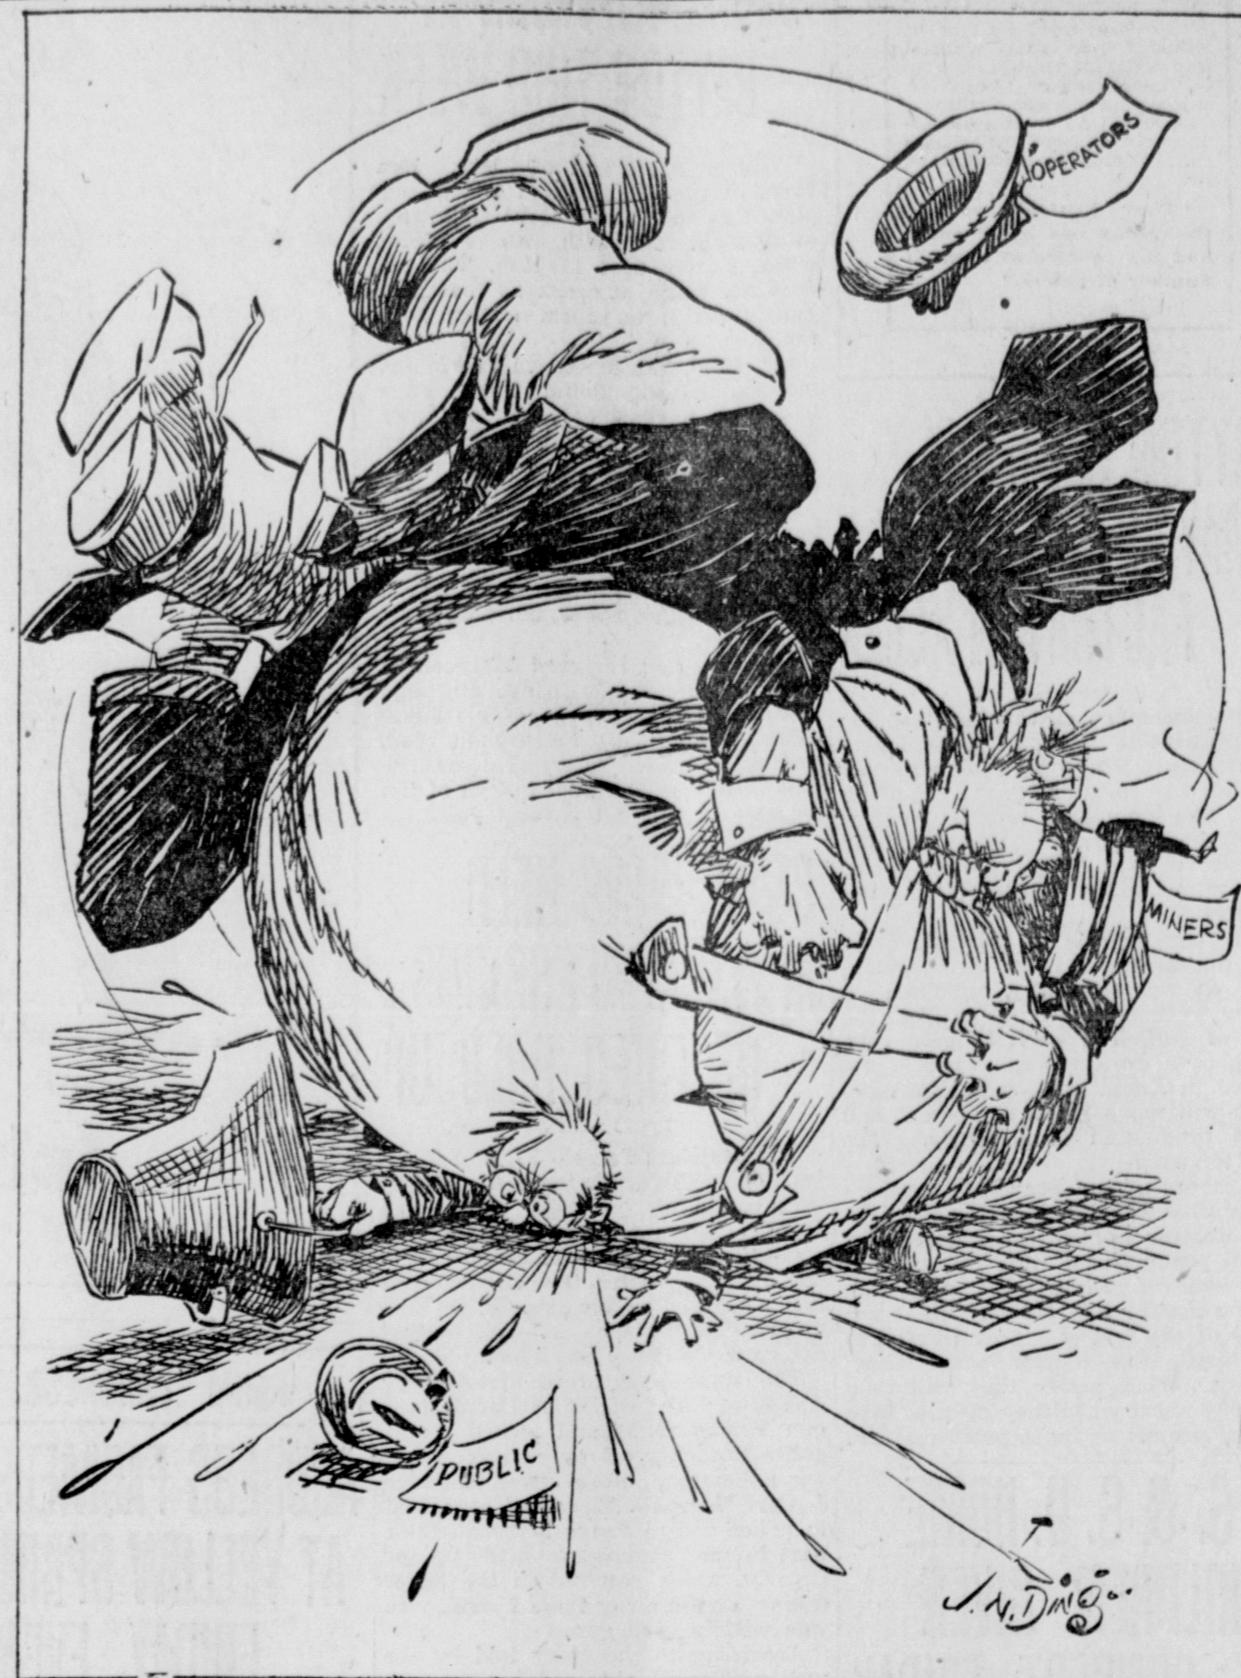

Mrs. Moore's report was based on several months' personal investigation of conditions in Europe. She obtained a special commission as immigration inspector to study conditions when she and her husband, A. P. Moore, went abroad last January.

"The immigration of recent years has been from the class of people which arrests, rather than aids, the development of any nation," the report read. "When I declare that most of those now seeking to come here have not any of the inspiration or the necessity of the early settlers from abroad, I am stating facts that impress everybody who makes a study of European conditions."

"The melting pot has been over-crowded. It has boiled too quickly and is running over. It were better to put out the fires under it and allow its contents to solidify before adding any more raw material. If we don't keep up the bars, and make them higher and stronger, there will be no longer an America for Americans."

Mrs. Moore commended the operation of the 3 per cent restriction law, but urged amendments to put "teeth" into it. She suggested that American Consuls be given authority to put applicants through rigid mental tests and that American physicians be employed to make physical tests. In that way, she declared, the undesirables could be kept out.

AIRPLANE LANDS IN CAPITOL PLAZA FOR FIRST TIME

For the first time in history an airplane has landed in front of the United States Capitol at Washington. Lawrence Sperry craft part way up the steps of the capitol on the Senate wing side. Here you have two views of the plane as it landed.

Telephone Receiver Is Essential, Making Radio Waves Audible.

NOTE—Lacking room today we were forced to withhold until a later article the printing of the radio code and an explanation of it.—THE EDITOR.

By WILLIAM G. H. FINCH

Associate Member Institute Radio

Engineers.

New York April 1.—Without the telephone receiver you would be without means of hearing the many radio telephone concerts that are broadcast and which have been the contributing cause in converting the general public to this instructive and most fascinating art—radio telephony.

It has been established by the pioneer that the usual telephone receiver, such as is used on your desk telephone, was unsatisfactory for radio purposes was developed (See Fig. 1) considerable research and experimental work that a type suitable for purposes was developed (see Fig. 1').

In order to thoroughly understand the theory and operation of this wonderful little instrument one would have to have a good schooling in magnetism and elementary electricity, and the writer will attempt to give only a brief outline of what takes place in the receiver.

Refer to Fig. 1—This style of receiver is known as the watch case type and the reason for adapting same was due to it being small, permitting it to be worn on the head by the operator. It is a general practice to wear a pair mounted on a headband, and by so doing keeping out most foreign and unwelcome sounds.

Radio Has Different Need.

The principal reason why the usual telephone receiver is not adaptable for radio work is because it is of low resistance winding (standard being 75 ohms) and is constructed so as to give a loud sound, requiring many times more current which can be easily applied in the usual wire telephone circuit, which is not the case in radio, the rectified radio telephone or telegraph currents being many times smaller, therefore requiring a much more sensitive receiver, and to obtain this it was necessary to improve upon the magnets and increase the windings on the electro magnets from 1,000 to diaphragm produce the corresponding sound waves thus making the voice audible. See Fig. 2.

The usual telephone receiver is wound with B. S. gauge No. 34 or 36 and the standard radio receiver with much smaller wire, being B. S. gauge No. 44 to 48 for a 1,000 to 2,000 ohm receiver.

The writer does not recommend that any of the readers attempt to rewind receivers—one of the greatest difficulties encountered being that of breaking the wire, which is as fine as the human hair, and even though you should succeed a rewound receiver does not give anywhere near the satisfaction or compare with a properly designed radio receiver.

There are a number of receivers of good make on the market. A good pair can be purchased from any of the radio dealers for $5.50.

THE ORACLE.

J. Farrington, Buffalo, wants to know if an aerial installed indoors using a crystal receiving set would be suitable to receive the radiophone broadcasts from Detroit.

A. No. This could only be accomplished with a vacuum tube set. Such a set will be described in this column at a later date.

MORE ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. G.: "I know this is not in your line, but I do hope you will answer it! I would like to know what general style you would advise me to choose in making a dress of dark blue crepe de chine with dark blue fringe trimming? I am under 30 and quite stout. How should I trim it around the neck? And how put the fringe on?"

Answer: It just happens that I have recently seen a dress in a shop, which was made of crepe de chine with fringe trimming and which I believe would suit you in style. Of course I do not know where you could get a pattern for such a dress, but I will describe it for you in hopes that you can perhaps find such a pattern—or make it up without a pattern at all. The skirt was medium-wide with a generous hem; and an over-skirt half covered it, the fringe being put onto the bottom of this over-skirt with graceful effect. At the waistline was a crush girdle of crepe de chine. The waist hooked on one shoulder, with a simple blouse effect across the front, and bound armholes. The three-quarters sleeves, ending with fringe, were set into a waist-lining. The neck was finished with two-inch-wide ecru colored "Val" insertion gathered at the top and finished with a narrow lace edging to match. Of course the neck of the crepe de chine blouse had to be cut quite low in order to set in this neck finish. Without exception, it was one of the most graceful dresses I have seen in several years. If you wished to, you could hand-embroider some motifs on the top-centre part of the blue blouse, using dark blue embroidery silk. If you have not enough fringe for the sleeves as well as for the overskirt, you could finish the sleeves like the neck with the ecru lace.

Mrs. T. M. B.: "Can you tell me what to do to stop the hair from falling out of furs? I have cleaned my little girl's white set with a paste which I made out of gasoline and flour; they look lovely, but I believe it has made the hair fall."

Answer: Cleaning the furs could not have made the hair fall. It was ready to fall anyway and the cleaning simply hastened matters. Hang them in the sunshine so as to kill any moth-eggs that may remain in them. There is nothing else to be done.

Interested Reader: "Please print a couple of games to be played by a group of young men between 20 and 24 years of age."

Answer: Advertising Game: Cut the advertising slogans ("It Floats," "His Master's Voice," et cetera) from a magazine, of course choosing only the slogans of widely known advertisers, and lay these on a table. Give each young man a pencil and paper with his name on it, and ask him to write down the commodity advertised by the different slogans. Thirty minutes may be allowed for doing this.

Literary Guessing Game: One player goes out of the room. The rest sit in a semi-circle and decide upon some famous author, each taking one letter of the author's name. For instance, if the author's name chosen is "Stevenson," the first player of the semi-circle takes "S," the next player "T" and the third player "E"—and so on. Each player must now think of some other author's name which begins with the letter he has. For instance, the first player's author might be "Stowe (Harriet Beecher)" the next player's "Tennyson," the third player's "Emerson," the fourth player's "Vance"—et cetera. The outside player is then called in to ask each player, in turn, questions concerning his particular author. When he guesses "Stowe," for instance, he knows he has the first letter of the general author's name—Stevenson. When he gets to "V" he will probably guess the rest, and it is then some other player's turn to go out of the room.

AN INTERESTING COTTAGE DESIGNED BY CHAS. S. SEDGWICK

Chas. S. Sedgwick Archt.
Minneapolis, Minn.

HERE IS A SMALL but convenient cottage featuring two bed rooms with private baths on the second floor. If the owner wished to he could rent the two front bed rooms with the bath between as a small apartment (preferably as a bachelor apartment), and in that way help out with expenses. Of course, only a very small family could do without the two front bed rooms, but in case of just a newly married couple or a mother and daughter, the sewing room could very easily be made into a bed room.

On the first floor one finds the living room, dining room, kitchen, coat closet and service porch. The living room has an attractive wide window, also an open fireplace and in the dining room we find a recessed seat, Dutch windows and a built-in sideboard. French doors between the living room and dining room add considerably to the charm of the lower floor. The arrangement of the kitchen seems to be particularly noteworthy but, of course, the owner could change any of this to suit his or her own taste. Personally, we liked instantly the sink just beneath the window and the cupboard for the dishes and pots and pans on either side as this arangement certainly saves many weary steps. The woodwork here, as it is on the second floor is done in white enamel. The other rooms on the first floor are finished in mahogany with oak doors. There is an unimportant feature that will at once make the housewife happy is the large and commodious linen closet on the second floor.

Finished in cream colored stucco with the chimney and base around the house of dark red "texture" brick, this cottage is one of the most attractive little homes that could be found anywhere. It is estimated that it would cost between $3,500 and $4,500 to build this home, exclusive of the plumbing and heating, and it is a safe guess that the one who invests his money in this house will never regret it. As shown here it is twenty-seven feet wide by twenty-four feet six inches deep.

GALLOWAY & CHERRY ENLARGE STORE ON WEST MAIN STREET

Enlargement of the Galloway and Cherry house furnishings store on W. Main St., was announced Friday by officials of the firm.

The store which has been occupying two floors of the North building has added to its floor space and available room, by the acquisition of the basement, under the entire store room.

The use of the basement, which has been fitted comfortably for usage, will add about 400 feet of floor space to the store, and with its acquisition, the firm has enlarged its stock by adding fresh furniture, including porch furnishings, and extending its stock of stoves and kitchen equipment and baby carriages.

It is interesting to note that the Galloway and Cherry Company opened its first store on E. Main St., occupying about 250 feet of floor space, and has since grown so that it now utilizes more than 1200 feet of floor space, with a much larger stock.

XENIA KIWANIS CLUB FORMS PERMANENT ORGANIZATION ON FRIDAY EVENING

Succeeding the temporary organization which came into existence about three months ago, the Xenia Kiwanis Club Friday evening formed its permanent organization and made application for a charter to the International organization of Kiwanis Clubs, following a dinner at the Elks' Club.

The action of the local club Friday evening, at which time the names of 54 charter members were announced as making formal application for a permanent affiliation with the international association, spelled success for the project that was undertaken early in January toward the establishment of a Kiwanis Club in Xenia.

Temporary officers of the club were re-elected Friday evening for the remainder of the year. They are: President, J. K. Williamson, Vice President, Dr. H. C. Messinger; Secretary, Elbert L. Babb; Treasurer, S. M. McKay and the following Board of Directors, Arthur H. Dyer, Edwin Davidson, E. H. Heathman, J. Walker Gibney, E. S. Myers, S. O. Hale, and Steele Poague. R. A. Kelly was appointed District Trustee.

The establishment of a Kiwanis Club in Xenia marks the second organization of its kind to be formed here. The first was Rotary which a short time ago celebrated its first anniversary. The two clubs are similar in purpose and organization, with the exception that instead of selecting one man, only, from each classification

William H. Tilford. "The Benefits of Social Gatherings."

A duet was given by Miss Helen Hurley and Miss Dorothy Clark, which with speeches was well received by the guests.

C. A. Darlington, who furnishes the plot of ground, on which the Quoit club members play, was presented with a billfold by the members of the club, during the evening.

NEW CLUB ROOMS ARE OPENED BY FRATERNITY

The cast of the "Phi Delt Follies" held the third of the rehearsals in the new attractive fraternity rooms in the Kingsbury Building Friday night. The spacious dance hall is an excellent place for the social gatherings that are planned by the organization. Friday evening was the first time friends of the members were afforded a view of the new location.

Under the direction of Forest and Robert Hurley the "Follies" is rapidly being rounded into shape. With a chorus of over fifty, and several "leads" the presentation will be one of the largest ever given in the city.

The two-course chicken supper, the principal feature of the evening, was served by the women of the Lutheran Church the guests of the evening numbering about 100, being served at long tables arranged in the banquet hall. The club colors of blue and gold were carried out in the decorations of the tables, blue candles in crystal holders, and bowls and bowls and baskets of yellow blossoms being used.

C. W. Whitmer as toastmaster presided at the program of speeches following the dinner, introducing the following speakers with their subjects, Harry E. Rice, "The Quoit Game," Mrs. S. O. Hale, "Amusements of Children," Professor C. A. Waltz, "Our Women," Mrs. Charles Whitmer, "Our Men," the Rev. D. D. Dods, "The Religion of Play," and the Rev.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF QUOIT CLUB IS HELD ON FRIDAY

A program of good speeches and an excellently served supper were enjoyed by the members of the Xenia Quoit Club, and their wives, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Friday evening.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

Now Works Nine Hours a Day.—

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."

—Mrs. L. A. Guimann, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham's has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.
